How might we find and keep the "real truth" of human history and at the same time create empathy and understanding?

DESIGNING ETHICAL FUTURES

How might we find and keep the "real truth" of human history and at the same time create empathy and understanding?